There's So Much Hospitality That It's Actually Shocking

As you ride along Highway 90 carefully obeying the speed limit, a siren is heard in the distance. "Surely," you think, "the patrolman does not mean me." What enters your mind. "What is it, am I going too fast?" The speedometer reassures you. Maybe the patrolman does not mean you after all. But then he is alongside and waves you off the road. You search for your driver's license before he reaches your window. But you see that the policeman is a smile on his face. He is not angry. He tells you something about this being Hospitality Day in Bay St. Louis, and that you are to be treated fine instead of being treated to a fine. What a relief! The first stop on the tour is a service station. Here a attendant very cheerfully fills your car with gas, checks your oil and water, literally gives you the best free. Then you and your escort move on to a restaurant. A king's meal and an official welcome await you. You are presented with a gift. You begin to wonder just how far hospitality can be extended. And frankly you admit that you are not sorry to interrupt your trip. By now your shakes are over. Everything is okay. You are enjoying the hospitality. It is really being displayed in good old southern style. But then it's time to leave. You hop into your car and head for the open road. But another thought enters your mind. You wonder if the next time you pass through Bay St. Louis and hear a siren, what should your reaction be. You realize that there cannot be a Hospitality Day every day of the year. So you resolve to respect the laws of Bay St. Louis on any return visit. After all you can't be that lucky twice in a row. Yes, a number of travelers were able to be involved in a situation like this yesterday as Bay St. Louis opened its arms to help push Mississippi as the Hospitality State. The merchants in town who contributed gifts to this occasion were Jitney Jungle, C & S, and Wilmer's Grocery Stores. The service stations which participated were Scafide Brothers, Joe and Sam Pernicario, Benigno's Gulf Station and Teddo Thomas. The hosts for dinner were the Hotel Reed, the Rotary Club, Ray's Drive In, and Watkins Broadview Restaurant. Mayor John Scafide, and Commissioners Sylvan Ladner and Cyril Glover welcomed the people along with Karen Kergosien, Hancock County's Miss Hospitality. Tomorrow, with compliments of the various praline stands along the highway, boxes of a half dozen pralines will be given to out of state cars. This will take place at two junctions along the road.

Constable Shot Stockstills Charged

A preliminary hearing will be held Friday in the case of the shooting of Constable E. Alsbrook, who has charged six members of the Stockstill family of Aaron Academy area with the attack.

The shooting occurred Sunday night at a bar said to be operated by Catherine Hemphill. E. Alsbrook, an employee of the establishment, Henderson Slaydon.

All those charged deny the shooting. All have been released on bond after being brought to jail, first in Picayune, and then to Bay St. Louis.

According to the sheriff's office here, the battle began when an argument took place in the afternoon between some members of the Stockstill family and those in the Steward family. Later in the evening, the argument flared again in the bar. The constable was summoned and stopped a fight. The constable and a Steward and a few others were inside a while later, when guns were fired through the door, the Sheriff's office said. Alsbrook was hit about twenty times with shot from a single barrel shotgun.

After giving chase, Alsbrook stated, a gun which had been fired recently, was found in the possession of Buster Stockstill, one of those charged.

Also on bond are Junior, A. U. Zeal, Darville and Buster Stockstill and Austin Davis, a brother-in-law.

Legion Installs Officers In Ceremonies

Approximately 125 members watched as Sidney L. Bourgeois was installed as Commander and Marion Elliott as President of the Auxiliary of the Clement R. Bontemps Post 139 of the American Legion here.

Other Legion officers installed were: Tom L. Bressler, First Vice-Commander; Bert E. Estapa, Second Vice-Commander; Charles R. Beyer, Adjutant; Andy J. Becker, Treasurer; James A. Fillingame, Service Officer; Joseph H. Benveniste, Judge Advocate; Laurent Dickson, Chaplain; Warren Buehler, Sgt.-at-Arms; T. A. Butz, Historian and Sam Benigno and Joseph Compretta as Color Guards. The oaths and charges were given by Douglas Guley of Pascagoula who is Southern District Commander for Mississippi.

$20,000 In School Improvements

Approval has been granted for approximately $20,000 worth of school repairs and improvements to be made in the city's schools, it was announced this week.

The school board asked recently in a petition to the Mayor and Board of Commissioners for permission to raise the money through a loan to be repaid through negotiable notes in five years.

The authorities agreed. And then, bids will be accepted for work on the school properties.

Among the repairs and improvements projected are remodeling of the lunch room, new shop tools, painting of the old Central school building; painting rooms in old part of Valena C. Jones school; fluorescent light for Central School building; tiling floors and hallways of the old part of Valena C. Jones School; portable stage for Valena C. Jones School; basketball goals for Valena C. Jones School; ground filling and brick work for Valena C. Jones School.

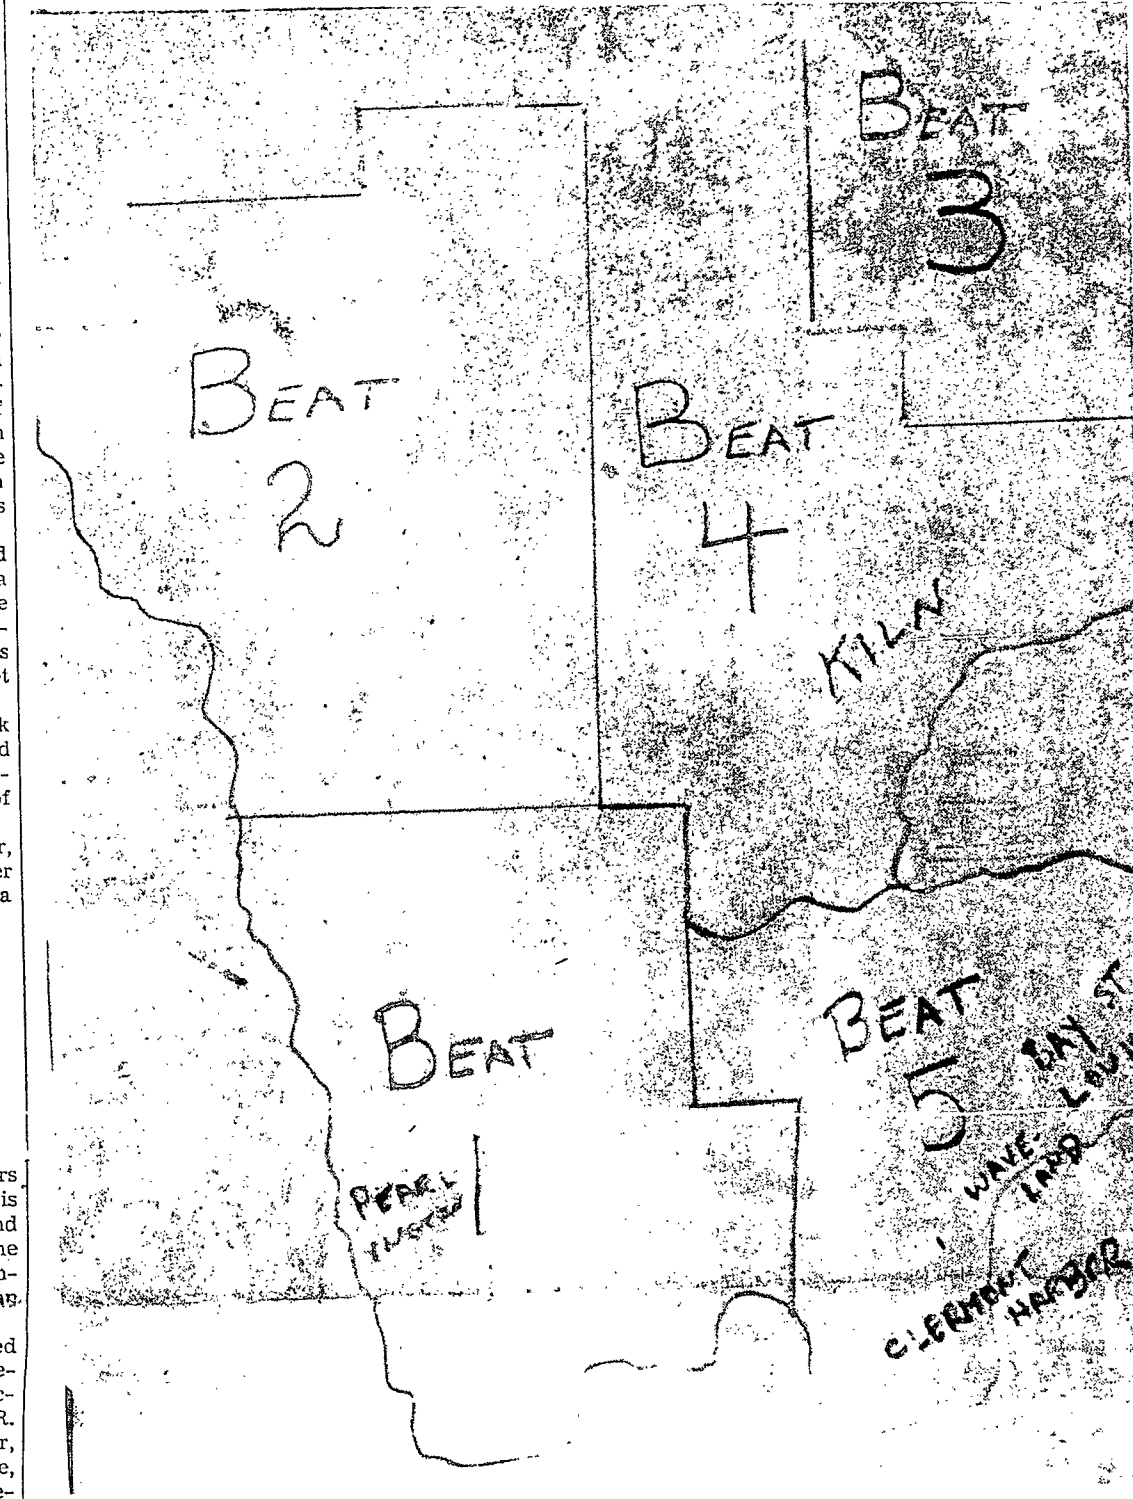

Big Damage Little Injury In Accident

Slight injuries were received by the George Schubert family in a far-from-slight accident, which caused nearly $1000 worth of estimated damage to two trucks here Saturday night.

A Morrison's Cafeteria truck, according to the state highway patrol report, crashed into the rear of a one half ton truck driven by George Schubert, as the latter attempted to turn off Highway 90.

The Schubert truck was so badly damaged friends said later: "It was a miracle they got out alive." Schubert, his wife and Bonnie Wahwright, were all treated at Kings Daughters and Sons hospital for minor cuts, bruises and shock and later released.

Petition Asks Redistricting Of Hancock County Along 'More Equal' Lines, Vote May Be Called On Issue

"Redistrict the beats in Hancock County," was the cry of a petition presented to the Board of Supervisors Friday.

This initial petition signed by citizens of Bay St. Louis asked that the Beats be divided so that all would take in parts of the present Beat 5.

"The best safeguards of good government usually is the active and intelligent interest of the majority of the people. The rule will not work in Hancock County. Beat 5 has almost 58% of the voters but the policies of the country can be determined by the supervisors from the rest of the beats," a spokesman for the signers said.

The change noted in the petition would tend to equalize the voters in each beat. But it would have 1122 voters, Beat 2, 1300; Beat 3, 1160; Beat 4, 1175 and Beat 5, 1940.

Henry Osoinach, Jr., one of the signers of the petition, said, "There is no desire to criticize the present supervisors or to cause any upheaval in the county. As generally known, representation on the board is terribly out of balance. It is a situation which will invite and ultimately cause some supervisors to misuse their authority."

"Nothing we can do will guarantee faithful performance of official duties. But we can be more certain of it by removing temptation."

The originators of this petition plan to present another one to voters of the county to sign. If 25% of the voters sign then an election will be held to vote on this change in the geographic lines in this county. However, the supervisors could re-district the county without a vote if they so chose.

Similar measures were taken in Harrison County this year. At present plans for redistribution are well under way.

Those who signed this preliminary petition are Henry Osoinach, Jr. E. S. Drake, P. J. Treutel, B. F. Hille, Alden Mauffray, Octave Delph, J. R. Scharff, P. E. Porter, Sr., H. W. LeTissier, George F. Stevenson, A. J. Chapman, R. E. Traub and Mrs. Joseph Kern.

Governor Appoints Artigues, Traub To Hospital Group

Governor Hugh L. White this week appointed Maurice Artigues and Charles Traub, Sr., as members of the State Hospital Commission to serve four years as Mississippi's trustees of the Kings Daughters and Sons hospital here.

Already appointed to the group is Fred Herlihy, postmaster.

Hospitalized

Joseph Zengarling is due to return home this week after suffering an attack which necessitated hospitalization in Hotel Dieu in New Orleans for several days.

Bridge Tender Dies On Duty

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon for A. J. Moran, bridge tender on the Bay St. Louis bridge, who died Saturday while he was on duty. Moran, who was 64, was a native of Hancock County. His burial took place in Napoleon cemetery.

Palbearers were members of Masonic Lodge 429.

He is survived by his wife, four daughters, Mrs. Rene Bermond, of this city; Mrs. T. J. Jacobs, of Picayune; Mrs. M. C. Buckley, of Panama City, Fla.; Mrs. Frances Schubert of New Orleans and three sons, Reginald Moran of Lake Shore; Edgar Moran of New Orleans and Leo Moran of this city.

Livestock Fair

The first Livestock show and fair to be held by the Hancock County Livestock Association will be held at the youth center here on October 1st and 2nd. It was announced by the association this week.

Mrs. Beyer Heads

Mrs. R. C. Beyer has been named by the Mississippi River Education Association to head its Education Committee. It was announced this week.

School Bus Problem Faces School Board

The Hancock County School Board, faced with financial problems in transporting school children, held its monthly meeting in the courthouse this week. The board has been working a solution to the difficulty arising from reduced funds for transportation.

Said one member "We may have to dispense with some private buses and place county busses over the beats." In previous years, it was explained, transportation and teaching salaries have been given to the county in one fund. This system allowed almost $45,000 for the purpose of transporting children and from Hancock schools.

Now transportation money is in separate fund. The state has allowed Hancock County $32,000, $13,000 less than in previous years.

At the meeting, the board voted to let the grammar school and high school students from Aaron Academy continue to attend the Picayune public school. This ruling will hold true until the county is organized or until July 1, 1957.

Phillips Named

To State Forestry Committee

Walter James Phillips, state representative from Hancock County, was named to serve on the interim committee to draw up a compact for interstate forest protection.

Phillips was chosen as the member of the House to act for them on this committee. He serves along with James Craig, State Forester and James McClure, Jr., of the State Senate.

The purpose of this compact, which must be approved by the state's Congress, is to furnish a centralized and mutual agency through which state forestry officials from several states can meet and discuss certain problems. The main problem is securing mutual aid in the case of forest fires.

FRESH WATER LINE PARLEY SET FOR TUESDAY, JULY 20TH.

Tuesday, July 20th has been set as the date for a meeting to hear protests against the Mississippi Seafood Commission ruling setting the fresh water line 50 feet South of the Bay St. Louis highway bridge.

Walter J. Gex, Jr., President of the Commission, announced this week that a joint meeting of his group with the state game and fish commission has been called in response to the requests of several organizations.

The meeting will open at 2:30 p. m. "To hear any and all persons and organizations as to the setting of the jurisdictional line between fresh and salt water along the shore line of the Gulf of Mexico."

If the present ruling, which went into effect following a law passed by the state legislature, stands, it will be necessary for those who fish from the highway bridge to have a license.

Protests have arisen on this account, especially since the many out-of-state visitors who come to this resort area, would have to pay a high license fee.

It was pointed out by protesting organizations that since no fresh water fish are found below the ruling was extremely unfair.

Sportsweek

By GREGORY FAVRE

Two young nationally known sports figures who were visitors to this fair city gave the impression of the difference between professional and college football. They were Eddie Price and Kyle Rote, teammates and roommates on the New York Giants professional football team.

Both of these giants of the gridiron were former All-Americans in college. Eddie is best known around these parts for his record-setting years at Tulane. Kyle is a Texas boy, who displayed his unusual ability at Southern Methodist.

They were both coherent in stating that there is a great deal of difference between professional and college ball. Eddie said, "One of the main differences is that professionals have better spirit than college teams. This is due to the fact that we are in closer contact. We have a meeting every day to discuss problems and other points that may present themselves."

After a short period of thinking Kyle said, "I think that the big difference is the type of ball players. Professional teams get the pick of the crop. They have the best in the country to choose from. Therefore, they all have good teams."

Eddie, a good looking, well-constructed athlete, has been working with the New Orleans Recreation Department during the off season. He also has done quite a bit of television work.

About his future in football he commented, "If I get past this season in good physical condition I will continue to play. But if I do not I will quit the game. I hope to go into public relations when I do return from professional ball."

Eddie is a partner in a business with Mel Parnell, the Boston Red Sox ace and Jimmy Steel, disk jockey from New Orleans.

Kyle, a 200-pound, crew cut collegiate looking, halfback has a kitchen utensil business in St. Charles, Illinois. He has had an influx of bad luck since his beginning with the Giants. In his very first spring training he suffered a leg injury which has never healed fully.

"This has hampered my play. I hope to be able to work that injury out this season," he said.

In answering the age-old question of who has hit them the hardest since they began playing pro ball Eddie said, "The hardest I have ever been hit was by George Connor, the Notre Dame great, in an early game in California. When he hit me it felt like he had hit me with a mallet. I would say he hit me harder than any line-man in the game."

Kyle was a more skeptical saying, "It is hard to tell who hits the hardest. Since they all have such power. Whenever you are hit it hurts."

The two pigskin heroes had a workout at the St. Stanislaus stadium during their short stay here. They are both getting in shape for pre-season training which begins on July 18.

Eddie and Kyle both agreed that the coaching in professional ball is more precise than college. Eddie, who spent many of his boyhood days here said, "Steve Owen could tell you the weakness of every player on an opposing team. He studied every man and the way he played."

Kyle spoke of the controversial subject of whether or not Texas has the toughest college league in the country. It's not because I played there, but I think the Southwest Conference is one of the toughest. The reason for this is the intergrade system they use in all the high schools. That is also the reason why the Texas colleges have so many grown boys in their lineups."

In relating a funny experience that happened in one game a couple of years ago, Eddie said, "We were playing a game one day and Steve Owen, coach, asked the referee how much hime was left to play. He wouldn't answer. Steve no matter how many times he asked. I stood up off the bench and began shouting at the referee and calling him names. About that time he started walking over to the head linesman to complain about the razzing he was getting. I saw this and ran back to the bench."

While all this was going on Kyle was running up the sidelines warming up. Just at the same moment that he reached the point where I had been standing the referee turned and pointed a finger at Kyle and called out "a fifteen yard penalty on number 44," which was Kyle. He was blamed for my howling. He was almost fined by the club to top it off."

In the past four years in which Eddie has been a member of the New York team he has been in the top three ground gainers three years.

It was obvious that these two men, who play football as a profession have a great admiration for each other's ability. Before leaving Kyle said, "Tulane started supporting de-emphasis of football after Eddie left. They had to when they lost someone like him."

Rodney tickets are $10 per person and entitles the holder to three nights lodging on Dauphin Island, a free fish fry and a great entertainment program on Saturday, July 17, and the chance to compete for a huge prize cache.

Tickets may be bought in advance at the Mobile Junior Chamber of Commerce or on Dauphin Island.

Nothing will frighten a fish or whole school of them as quickly as vibrations in a boat. So don't bang the oars against the sides, don't drop the anchor or your tackle box on the bottom and don't scrape your feet.

For still fishing, place hook through top of minnow's back at dorsal fin. Don't place hook through backbone, stomach or head. It will kill minnow too quickly. And when you have a bite, let fish take minnow twice before raising rod. They don't swallow minnow until the second run.

Iowa fish department research shows that wall-eyes, bullheads, yellow bass and white bass move most extensively at night; yellow perch, northern pike, blue gills and sunfish prefer the daytime, and crappie, carp and suckers are ready for anglers any time.

Riding the crest of one of the most sensational increases in popularity ever experienced by any sport, the great game of golf this year has approximately 3,125,000 participants who will play at least ten rounds during the season and another million or so who will go out several or more times.

One measure of the game's popularity is found in the number of courses. They now total 5,056 (private, semi-private and public), an increase of 52 over 1953 and a jump of 1,247 over the 4,809 in existence at the end of World War II, including our own new course at Pass Christian Isles.

Among those sailing all through last week were Don Chamberlain, Don, Jr., Bill and Elizabeth Hogan, their son Moreland, Maumus Clavie, C. C. McDonald, Jr., Eddie Heath, Henry Chapman, Jack Gordon and other local sailors.

Aline Bermond
Wed Saturday

The marriage of Aline Bermond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bermond of this city, to Dr. William Hoda, son of Mr. and Mrs. Romalone Hoda took place Saturday at 3 p. m. at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Father Leonhard officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a blue embroidered organdy gown with a red and white belt. The close fitting waist was belted with blue and rhinestones. She wore a white hat and white shoes and carried a bridal bouquet of pink carnations.

The bride's only attendant was a cousin, Margaret Bermond, who was dressed in a ballerina length pink organdy gown and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

S. Nicaise, a cousin of the groom, was best man.

For a small family reception held following the ceremony, the bride's mother wore a gray and blue flowered silk print with white and sand accessories.

The bridegroom, who is with the Kaiser Aluminum plant in New Orleans, will make his home with his bride on Carroll Avenue here.

COASTING

Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Aiken have just returned from a motor trip New York and Philadelphia. They had a lot of business to attend to in New York it was nice to visit the Hugh Aikens in Philadelphia. Now, they are back at their Waveland home with a house full of company.

Hugh Aiken, Jr., and his sister Edith will be here for a visit. Flight Surgeon, Dr. David Aiken, USAF, and Mrs. Aiken and the four children, John Gayle, Carolyn, Susan and David, are also their guests. Mrs. Aiken, who is June Roper, studied law at Newcomb College and is now in the law office of her father, Dr. Aiken, in New Orleans. This family group of Aikens would not be complete without Miss Edith Aiken of New Orleans who is so happy to visit with nieces and nephews that she does not offer, see.

Ellis and Betty Hennican opened their home on Waveland Avenue for the Fourth and will be here until after Labor Day. Ellis, Jr., Dot, Peggy, and Joe are all ready for a busy summer. Alice stayed in New Orleans but will come over on week ends. Claiborne Perrihat is visiting with the Hennicans.

The Bruce Bards Jr. of New Orleans and their three children and the Perry Willises also of New Orleans and their two children, have taken a home on Ulman Avenue. The men folks will concentrate and the rest of the family will concentrate on crabbing.

Ernest Allgeyer, Jr., and his pretty wife, Colma, down from Washington, D. C. for a visit with Dr. Ernest and Becky Allgeyer. They all went over to Fort Walton, Fla., for a special visit.

Have you seen the Back Forest in Germany in the Spring? It is a beautiful sight. The carefully preserved trees are hundreds of years old and taller than any pine tree on the Coast. 'Ladies In Waiting' Can Dress Prettily These Days

There is no special season for maternity clothes, and since most women take good care of the ladies in waiting, good hot afternoons are all right to go picking and choosing among the racks stacked, in so many words, "for ladies-to-be."

At Ramseys, where the dressing room is air-conditioned there is a large supply of pretty outfits, reasonably priced, for the maternity shopper.

Particularly outstanding among these dresses were those which were used for dress occasions.

Priced at $10.98 was a navy blue top with a blue and white striped tulle maternity jacket. For coolness, the skirt material was of a linen-like material, made with adjustable waistband. The top was low-cut, sleeveless, and designed across the shoulders in back with a yoke-effect which allowed the necessarily full top to fall in graceful folds. This outfit will take the expectant mother to any dress function up until the time she must stay home and sterilize bottles.

For the occasion, such as an afternoon shower, or daytime shopping, the selection at Ramsey's yielded a light blue tweed cotton, made with the classic full-two-piece lines. It's topped at the neck with a fresh white pique bib, which is inserted into the v-neck of the blouse. This cost $12.98.

Most of the very large number of maternity dresses at Oien's department store cost in the neighborhood of seven dollars.

An apple green and white cotton scoop neckline and the merest tip of a cleave, is embroidered at the neck with rhinestones.

Just about the prettiest of these dresses, created to minimize the girth and give a maximum of comfort, was a simple cotton jacket, bound at the neck and shoulders with navy blue and spattered with pink rosebuds on a white ground. This sleeveless two-piece, had a navy skirt in cotton.

Oien's has a number of house and brunch coats for maternity wear - or other wear - at reasonable cost.

SUMMERTIME on the Bay St Louis beach

The Echo's Camera Takes You
On A Quick Keep-Cool Tour

Yacht Club Fleet Awaits Day's Sailors

Summer is here, and a hearty welcome to the visitors to Bay St. Louis. It is to you that we dedicate this page. We truly hope that your days spent here will be enjoyable ones. The city offers you all necessary facilities to have a pleasant vacation.

You have a sand beach where you may get that dark, summer tan that you can display when you return home. You have the use of a newly built city pier to enjoy both swimming and fishing.

The mammoth highway bridge presents as fine a place as any to fish or crab. These are a few of the recreations you may participate in during your stay in our fair city.

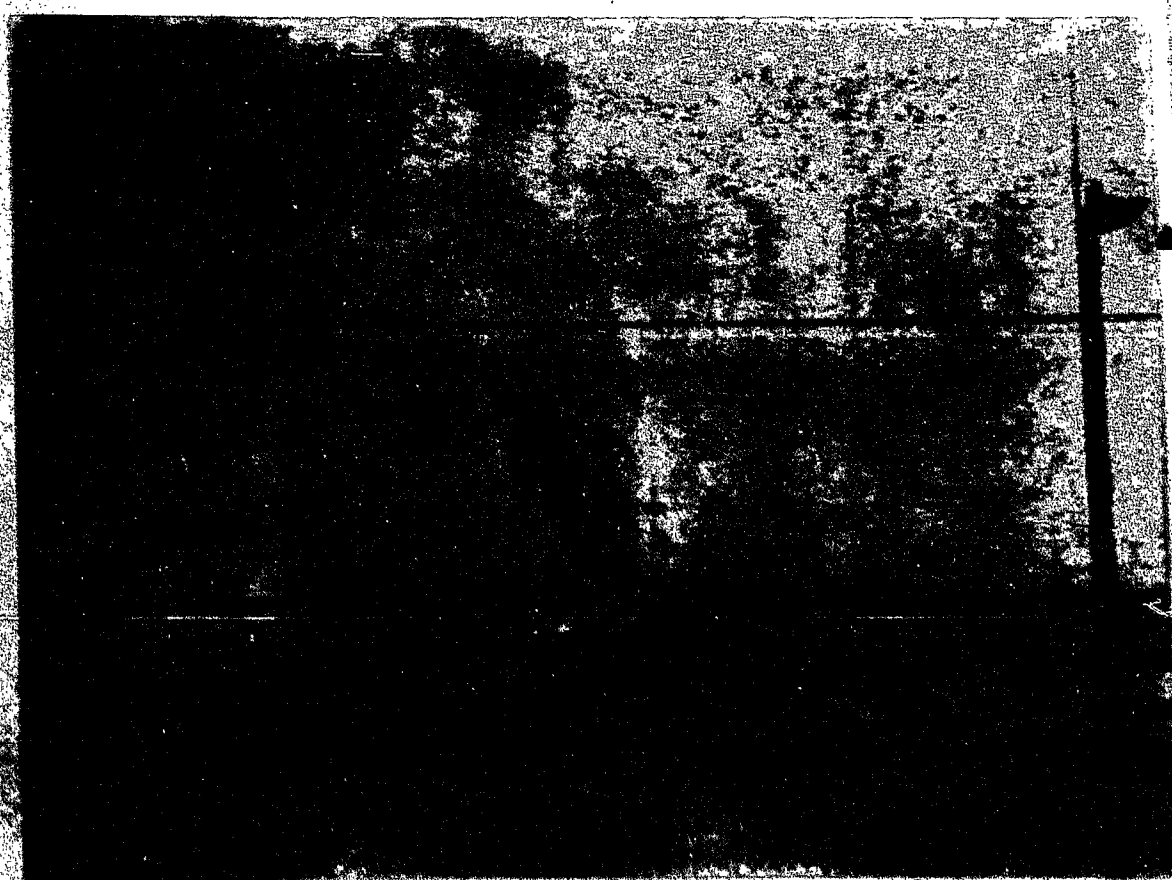

We hope that when you leave you will always remember your vacation spent here in Bay St. Louis. And above it all is our wish that you will return someday to visit us again.

Interesting Proposal

A proposal presented to the Board of Supervisors this week calls for new boundaries for the beats in Hancock County. The meat of the proposal is to split the coastal areas - Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Belmont Harbor and Lakeshore - among the five beats rather than lump them into one as presently.

The reason is simple. These populated areas pay three-quarters of the taxes in the county. Why, ask the petitioners, should these same areas have only one-fifth the vote?

There is sound logic here. Too many times populated areas pay the bills, and then accept the rule of sparse areas. This, in a way, is "taxation without representation." It certainly is taxation without adequate representation.

Of course, this does not mean that the split-up proposed in this current petition is exactly the split-up that should be made. That calls for more study. And it calls for reserved judgment until the study has been completed.

But one thing is certain. Those beat lines should be examined. And, if they don't present a fair division, then the lines should be redrawn.

The government of the United States is based on majority rule. There are fine points, to be sure, such as the protection of minorities from unfair practices by majorities. But you cannot wander too far from majority rule and still have truly democratic government.

Bridge Fishing

The seafood commission almost struck a death blow at a favorite local pastime - fishing off the bridge. We say "almost" because civic groups are up in arms, and may forestall the ruling at a hearing to be held soon.

The effect of the ruling would be this:

To wander onto the bridge on a lazy summer afternoon, you must have a fishing license. If you're from out of this state, the license will cost a whopping $5.25.

That's hardly in line with the current Mississippi drive to attract more tourists to the Gulf Coast.

Likewise, it's hardly in line with making the coast - and Bay St. Louis in particular - a more attractive place to live.

Too often in this area one hand is cutting down what the other plants.

Much effort and money is going into attracting tourists and industry here. Too many times the visitor immediately is greeted by a vicious speed-trap or a bit of a holdup called "game of chance."

The people of the Gulf Coast must wise up to the fact that hospitality must be genuine to be effective. And they must also realize, too, that the selfish deeds of a few reflect upon the entire community.

It's quite true that very few in the community commit these various forms of petty robbery. But it's also true that the fleeced tourist does not go home and cuss that "damned Joe Spittin'." Instead he goes home and cusses "that damned Gulf Coast."

We all suffer greatly for the selfishness of a few.

Cernas, Who Came To Bay After Torture, Returns Home

By GREGORY FAVRE

Perhaps the most relieved and happiest family in Bay St. Louis is that of Juan Cordova Cerna, of Bay View Court. The end of the revolution in Guatemala means the end of terror for them.

Juan Cerna has suffered tortures for the love of his native country. He has been exiled twice and tortured mercilessly by the evil forces that ruled his Spanish-speaking country.

Cerna, who has been a practicing lawyer for the past 30 years, was first exiled from the land of his birth when he chose to defend a man who had spoken against General Ubico, then president.

He was warned not to accept the position as this man's attorney, but he refused to listen to these threats. He had his ideals. And a country being ruled by a dictator was not included among them. So he was politely escorted out of Guatemala and could not return until Ubico resigned his office.

Then last year, when the Communist regime began to fear the uprising of the rebel forces, he was arrested.

They gave no explanation. One night 14 men in plain clothes entered his home and carried him away.

His wife went to the court of appeals. But they said they had not arrested her husband. He had escaped from the country, they said.

His daughter, who now lives in Bay St. Louis, said, "The Communists had planned it very carefully. My father was abducted on Wednesday of Holy Week. They knew that the newspaper would not come out again until the next Monday. That way they would be sure to have no immediate rebuttal by the people."

Once they did resume publication, the newspapers ran an editorial asking for an explanation to the disappearance of this very popular man. But no progress was made.

Finally, after 18 days, Cerna turned up in Honduras where he had been left by the Reds.

Upon his arrival in Honduras, he told the story that he had left Guatemala in a puzzled and worried state.

After his arrest he had been taken to an old Spanish dungeon where he had been tortured. The Communists believed that he was behind the plot to overthrow their government. They wanted him to tell the names of all the people concerned with it.

Cerna has never revealed whether he had the information they wanted. He told them nothing. And the punishment continued.

They filled a huge cement tank with water. At intervals they would tie a rope around his body and lower him into this tank. They would keep him there until he almost drowned, then raise him and give him artificial respiration.

This went on for one whole day. Another form of torture they used was to flash a light on and off in his face for one solid night. They beat his feet with a rubber hose and then made him stand up and poured cold water on them to increase the pain.

Yet Juan Cerna survived these and many other cruel practices without succumbing to the desires of the Reds.

The most surprising thing to many was that he was not killed. But his daughter explained, "We believe the reason he was not killed was because of his popularity among the people. The police guarded our house so no one could get in."

When he was finally released the farmers and other people gave him food and money until he was able to contact officials in Honduras.

He was threatened with death if he would reveal any of the details of his capture. Again he refused this order and told his story.

He and his family have been living here in Bay St. Louis close to a year. But now that the Reds are out of power, he is back in Guatemala and expects to bring could see us. Yet our many friends defied their rule and visited us every day and night."

To humiliate Cerna after he was tortured, his captors dressed him in torn, beggars' clothes and walked him over the countryside in front of a column of policemen. His family back here in the near future.

Mrs. Cerna received a letter the other day from a close relative saying, "It was terrible down here the past week. If it had lasted longer no one would be around to tell about it. So many people were being tortured by the Communists."

The Cernas lost their son when he was killed by the Communists in a revolution four years ago.

But now Juan Cerna a man who refused the nomination to run for the presidency in 1951 because he felt that it would be better for his country if they did not split the ticket and ran only one man, can rejoice. For he can once again live in the country to which he has dedicated his life.

Modern Etiquette

Q. Will you please list some of the duties of the best man at a wedding?

A. He looks after the bridegroom, generally driving him to the church. He takes care of the ring, giving it to the bridegroom at the proper moment in the ceremony. He gives the clergyman his fee, and takes care of any tips incidental to the going away, being of course reimbursed by the bridegroom at a convenient time.

Q. Is it all right to tip the waiter or waitress by the week, instead of at every meal, when one is staying at a hotel for several weeks?

A. Yes; this is often done, and is more convenient.

Q. Is it good form to sip one's coffee first with the spoon in order to test its temperature?

A. Yes; this is far better than burning the mouth, or perhaps spitting out the liquid. But after testing it, the spoon should be left in the saucer and the remainder of the coffee sipped from the cup.

Q. Is it proper to close a letter with one word, such as, "Sincerely," "Cordially," "Respectfully"?

A. No; the possessive pronoun "yours" should always be included.

Q. Is it considered good form for a family to insert "please omit flowers" in a funeral notice?

A. Certainly, if that is the family's desire. The request should be respected, and the motive not questioned.

Q. When a man accompanies a woman to the dinner table, should he sit down at the same time that she does?

A. No; he should first draw out the chair for his dinner partner, or for the woman who sits next to him.

Q. Is it correct to have one's telephone number engraved on personal stationery?

A. No; the telephone number should never appear on one's personal stationery.

Q. Should a young person offer a hand when being introduced to an elderly woman?

A. Only if the elderly woman offers her hand first.

Q. If one is offered a cigarette, and prefers to smoke one's own brand, is it rude to refuse the proffered cigarette?

A. No.

HOGGING OFF

The time to turn hogs off is when they begin to harden and when temporary cross fences are about 15 hogs to the acre.

As an area is cleaned up, the hogs to another similar area and turn in dry sows and sows with small pigs.

Feeding a protein supplement will save a lot of corn. Corn is the best source of protein for hogs.

Plenty of corn is available in corn that has heavy forage soybeans with it, hold off on the supplement until the forage is cleaned up. When the corn is cleaned up, hand feed hogs around one-fourth pound of protein supplement per head daily.

Before turning in hogs, it may be necessary to make a turn around the field with a disc to knock down some corn.

Plenty of shade and water are essential to hogs. If no natural shade is available, provide brush arbors allowing around 9 square feet per hog. Clean wallows can be used to advantage when hogging off corn. However, the hogs need plenty of clean drinking water. A hog on full feed will drink around a gallon of water per day.

COTTON INSECTS
Boll weevils, bollworms and other cotton insects unless controlled with harvest your crop for you. This is expensive so take steps now to control these pests.

ter and honey and coffee that cost $2.00 a pound. A big meal at midday. At five o'clock coffee and pastry; not just one kind, but at least two or three delicious tarts, which means crisp pastry, filled with cooked fruit and covered with whipped cream. Supper? Of course. She part brief visits to Switzerland and Belgium and made the whole trip from New Orleans to Germany and back by plane.

Jack and Lorraine Stahl, recent newlyweds, drove over Sunday from New Orleans and spent the day with his folks, the A. W. Stahl. By the way, little Billy Stahl, Bill and Ted Stahl's boy, was awarded the medal in his group at the Tulane University summer camp. Billy is only 8 years old but is a very fine baseball player and made first base on his team.

Taking it easy last week end at the Killian Hagers, was Paula Copeland and the Fred LeLaurins.

Putting mileage on his good looking Chevrolet last Sunday was Palmer Abbott, his own teen age granddaughter, Betty Osborne and her friend Linda Cough. They were ired with the Jackies and other friends at the Pass and the Bay. They just had to have to go back to New Orleans.

Miss Elizabeth Chapin, Devlin, all of four months old, with black curly hair, deep blue eyes and fair skin, quite a little beauty, made her first visit to Uncle Tom's Cabin. John and Joan Devlin, her mother and father, and about a ton of baby luggage, just had to come along.

A brand new little boy came to face and Charles Gremillion at Baptist Hospital in New Orleans last Friday. He and his mother will remain in New Orleans for a week or so and then come back to their country home near Waveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Bane Monroe coming over for week ends only and leaving the travelling up to the younger generations. Baneburn and Rose Monroe and their children are up at the family home in North Carolina. Mary and Malcolm Monroe had as their guests the past weekend, Eleanor and Marshall Ballard of Lumberton, Miss. and Carl and Rae Bieh of New Orleans. Their daughter Meina Monroe, had a grand visit in Jamaica with Jap and Olive Labrousse and their daughter, Jeanne, of New Orleans. As soon as she reached home, Mary, Meina, Diana and Arthur left for Canadian Northwest. They will visit Vancouver, Victoria, Banff, Lake Louise and all points of interest to and around these spots in the Canadian Rockies and on the Pacific. Malcolm will fly to meet them so the whole family can enjoy this wonderful vacation together.

Maria Louise and Dewey Blair have sold their attractive cottage on Jeff Davis and are home shopping in New Orleans. They will be a great loss to the Bay, particularly to the work at the Little Theatre where they have established fine records of performance and production.

Sailing all through the past week were the Don Chamberlains, Don, Jr., their guests, Bill and Elizabeth Hogan, their son, Moreland and his Lightning class boat and Maurice Claverie to help him sail. Bay St. Louis, Gulfport, Biloxi and the SYC of New Orleans are their home ports all through the summer.

All settled for the summer in their cottage on the little hill at the beginning of Gulf Drive, are Mr. and Mrs. James Rees. Mr. Rees is trying to make a commuting business. So far, not too bad and better than driving in this hot weather. Jim, Jr., and Caroline and their children Callie and Jimmy III, were guests last week. Caroline helps to run a summer camp on Lake Pontchartrain and Callie attends the same camp while Jimmy plays around in a camp in Metairie.

The Rees family bring news of Marion and George Atkinson who are leaving soon for an extended visit in California. The big air-conditioned Cadillac and a chauffeur make this a De Luxe vacation.

Also leaving for California is Isabel Devereux who has many friends in that state who will keep her busy visiting until the month of October. While she is away, her daughter, Marjorie Cummings of Nashville, will occupy the lovely Devereux home on Lake Pontchartrain. Katherine and Susan will do plenty of gay entertaining for young folks from Tennessee and Virginia. Her son Richard will probably come over for brief visits.

Mrs. Devereux's other daughter, Katherine has also come over for the summer to her pretty home next to her mother's place. The children, Devereux and Karen will be with her and Dr. Dana will come over as often as possible.

Just going by' one trotting pony, a little old fashioned pony cart, one little boy driving very well and two little girls holding tight to the sides of the cart. The pony and the cart belong to Linda Ball, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Ball who live in Waveland. Small brother Bonnie also enjoys rides in the pony cart. The Balls have a lake in their back yard and all the children in the neighborhood come to fish. First, they catch minnows for bait and they catch fresh water trout.
